"August Flower"

Biliousness, "I have been afflicted with biliousness and constipation for fifteen years; first one and then another preparation was suggested to me and tried but to no purpose. At last a friend recommended August Flower. I took it according to directions and its effects were wonderful, relieving me of those disagreeable stomach pains which I had been troubled with so long. Words cannot describe the admiration in which I hold your August Flower—it has given me a new lease of life, which before was a burden. Such a medicine is a benediction to humanity, and its good qualities and wonderful merits should be made known to everyone suffering with dyspepsia or biliousness."

A "STRAIGHT TIP."

The Terrible Result of Betting. Especially on a Dead Sure Thing.

"Talk about your sure things on horse races," said the veteran, "have I ever told you about how I was tripped up on the most beautiful straight tip you have ever heard of?"

None of the party had ever heard the story, so the major told it.

"While we were in camp with McClellan," he began, "we had some good horses which were worked just about hard enough to keep them in fine condition. Several of them were pretty good steeplechasers, too, but Colonel Blank had a horse which could outrun anything in the Army of the Potomac. Well, one day a lot of recruits came into camp. They were well supplied with tobacco and other little luxuries which help to make a soldier's life bearable.

"Some of the boys who had been in camp quite a long time looked enviously on the well filled canteens and haversacks of the newcomers, and it was, perhaps, natural that they should begin to scheme to try to secure some of the luxuries for themselves.

"The idea struck some one to get up a hippodrome horse race. The scheme was of course to have Colonel Blank's mare run against some of the poorer animals. And to have those who were 'in' on the deal to bet against the sorrel mare." The rider of the mare, of course, would be a party to the deal and he would prevent the sorrel from winning the race.

"Well, the details were all arranged and the plans were working nicely. The newcomers had heard all about the fame of the sorrel mare and they took the bait like a charm. All kinds of articles were wagered—tobacco, whisky, coats, boots, and not a small amount of money—on the result. We who had put up the job were laughing in our sleeves for three days before the race took place.

"On the day designated the mile course, which had been laid out on a fairly good road, was lined with blue coats from one end to the other. When the horses took their places visions of the luxuries which I have named loomed up in our imaginations and we exchanged sly winks as the horses came down past the starter. As soon as the starter yelled 'Go!' the men in the two long lines began to yell and swing their hats in the air.

"The space between these two lines was not more than fifteen or twenty feet wide and this unusual sight and noise frightened the sorrel mare. Well, she just took the bit between her teeth and the way she did skip down that road was a caution. The faster she ran the more the men yelled and the rider could no more check her speed than he could stop a cyclone. At the end of the mile the sorrel led her opponent by fully 300 yards, and not satisfied with this she ran nearly another mile before her rider could stop her."—New York Tribune.

Sanitation at Cheap Restaurants.
The frequenters of some of the cheap restaurants of our large towns would probably suffer from a painful falling off in the appetite were they first to pay a visit to the kitchens from which their savory morsels come. In the interests of their hunger they doubtless show sound discretion in taking the goods the gods of the gridiron send them without questioning or demur. On the other hand, in the interest of sanitation and public welfare, it is quite as important that the cleanliness of our restaurant kitchens should be beyond suspicion as that of our baking establishments.

The local authorities are empowered by the sanitary acts to deal with any work place which is not kept in a cleanly state, or not properly ventilated, etc., so as to be injurious or dangerous to health. It would be interesting to know what attention the local authorities have shown to these establishments.—Hospital.

Something About Money.
There is no place on this wide earth of ours where there is nothing to sell or no money to buy with. The kinds of money people are forced to use would make our boys who are familiar with gold, silver and crisp green paper laugh. Think of currency all the way from strips of odoriferous dried fish to beautiful nature polished sea shells and bright birds' plumage.

Of course we speak of money in its broad sense, meaning something convenient to carry, of a standard value, to be used in exchange or trade; something that costs labor to get or make, and of which every man thinks it would be good to get plenty. The pieces of leather of the Greeks with the rude figure of an ox scratched upon them, standing for a real ox, were just like our bank notes.—Philadelphia Press.

When Silk Was More Precious Than Gold.
Common as silk nowadays, in earlier times it was a most precious material. When it was first brought into Europe silk commanded three times its weight in gold, and so valuable was it deemed that in the reign of Tiberius a law was passed forbidding it to all save noble ladies, and prohibiting men from wearing it on the grounds of its offensiveness. So unusual was it even 200 years later for a man to wear silk that every historian of the time of Heliogabalus noted the fact that that emperor had a silk gown. For ages it continued at an abnormally high price. Charlemagne, in the year 780, could send to King Offa of Mercia no more valuable present than two silk coats.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TO ASSIST NATURE IN REMOVING POISONS FROM THE BODY is the great mission of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC. Microbi cannot exist in the blood when SSS is properly taken, as it promptly forces them out, and cures the patient. It has relieved thousands in a few days who had suffered for years.

Mr. F. Z. NELSON, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Fremont, Nebraska, suffered for years with SCROFULA, and it continued to grow worse in spite of all treatment. Finally, Four Bottles of SSS cured him. He writes: "Words are inadequate to express my gratitude and favorable opinion of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC."

THE IRRIGATION CONVENTION.

Next Tuesday, the 15th instant, an irrigation convention is to be held at Salt Lake City in response to a call issued by the Governor of Utah at the suggestion of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce. Each and all of the fifteen States and Territories lying within the arid belt have been invited to send delegates to the convention and they will doubtless be represented by full delegations.

The question of irrigation is one of the greatest importance to the States and Territories west of the Missouri river. There are hundreds of millions of acres of rich lands in the arid region, which require only moisture to make them as productive as any in the United States. The soil is fertile and the climate favorable for the production of the cereals, fruits and vegetables of the temperate zone. To-day these lands are veritable deserts, millions of acres of them producing not even scant pasture for herds and flocks.

The reclamation of these lands is one of the great problems of the day. Water is all that is required to transform them from sage brush wastes to grain fields and meadows. These essential elements must be procured, if at all, by artificial means. The most available methods of procuring water will, therefore, be the principal subject for consideration and discussion at the convention.

Congress may be memorialized to appropriate money from the National Treasury for the reclamation of arid lands, but judging by the actions of that body in the past, the request will not be granted, as the representations of the Agricultural States east of the Missouri will object, as they have heretofore, on the ground that there is a profitable market for what these States now produce, and they will not consent to be taxed to increase competition in their business. Taking into consideration the utility of urging Congress to make an appropriation for reclaiming the deserts, the convention may ask the General Government to grant all the public lands in the arid region to the States and Territories in which they are situated to be disposed of to persons who will reclaim them. Congress could not reasonably refuse this request, unless it provided means to reclaim the lands, as they are now comparatively valueless to both State and nation, and it is probable that a request of that character from the convention would receive due consideration at Washington.

A JEWISH COLONIZATION SCHEME.

The Jewish Colonization Association has been organized in London. The capital stock is $10,000,000 divided into shares of $500 each. Baron Hirsch, the Hebrew philanthropist, has about 20,000 shares in the company, and his associates are the Rothschilds, Ernest Cassel, Julian Goldsmidt and other wealthy Israelites. The objects of the association, briefly stated, are: To promote and assist the emigration of Jews from Europe and Asia to any other part of the world, and to establish colonies in North and South America and elsewhere for farming, commercial and other purposes. The maintenance of public works of all kinds, roads, railways, bridges, water courses, telegraphs, factories, synagogues and even forts are provided for. The association also reserves the right of a trading corporation, and it may procure mining concessions, loan colonists money and equipments for industries, engage in banking and carry on any lawful commerce, trade or business.

The London Times says this colossal scheme is the most remarkable of the kind ever launched by practical men. It has doubts, however, as to its future, and if it is worked on a large scale the czar might refuse to let his people go.

OREGON SWAMP LANDS.

The Secretary of the Interior has rendered a decision in the long-pending Oregon swamp land case. As thousands of acres of land in southern and eastern Oregon are affected by the decision it will be of interest to the people of that locality.

The case decided dates back to the passage of the Swamp Land grant of 1850, which extended to the State of Oregon, and has been before nearly every Secretary since that time in some shape or form. The present matter is before the Department on a certiorari, and involves nearly 58,000 acres. The Secretary, from the affidavits presented, thinks that the decision of the Commissioner of the Land Office in ordering a hearing is not justified, and, entertaining such views, he reverses the Commissioner's decision, dismissing the contest, and all entries and filings on the land in controversy, and directs the Commissioner to prepare clear lists of the lands, so they may be approved and patented.

Arsenical Poisoning.

KANSAS CITY, September 12.—Another chapter in the Juvenal case was written to-day when Dr. Doyle recorded the death of Mrs. J. M. Juvenal from arsenical poisoning. The married life of J. M. Juvenal has been a stormy one. He first married Miss Margaret Fouce of Russell, Kansas, and after eight years she got a divorce. Then Juvenal became engaged to be married to Miss Millie Pfeiffer of this place. He jilted her and married Mrs. Anne Baker a divorced woman. Soon afterward Juvenal's house was blown up with dynamite, he and his wife barely escaping death. Miss Pfeiffer was arrested for the crime and the case against her is still pending. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Juvenal spent the day away from home. Returning Monday they drank water from an ice cooler and were both immediately taken ill. They did not suspect poisoning, however, and medical assistance revived them. Tuesday they ate some cakes made from mixed meal and again both were taken violently ill. An investigation showed nearly everything edible in the house had been mixed with arsenic. From the effects of the illness Mrs. Juvenal never recovered, dying this morning at 2 o'clock. Juvenal has recovered. Much mystery surrounds the case.

Supposed Train Robbers Discharged.

MODESTO, Cal., September 12.—Bill Dalton and Riley Dean, accused of having attempted to rob the train near Ceres, were brought before Justice Townes to-day to plead and have the time set for a preliminary examination. They were represented by J. W. Breckinridge, of Merced, and L. J. Maddox, of Modesto. District Attorney Fulkner addressed the Court and said he had investigated the case thoroughly and that he found that the detectives had gone back on everything they had said. He did not believe Dalton and Dean were near the scene of the attempted robbery. He, therefore, made a motion that they be discharged. The Judge granted the motion, and Dalton and Dean were released from custody.

Dalton was immediately arrested on another warrant charging him with complicity in the Alila train robbery, which occurred about a year ago. Dalton had been arrested before on the same charge, but had been released on bonds. One of his bondsmen at Visalia withdrew from the bond, hence the second arrest.

The Warden's Action Approved.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, September 12.—The following action was taken by the Board of Prison Directors this evening: On motion of Director Stump, it was resolved: That the Board, after due investigation of the evidence adduced showing a conspiracy to escape on the part of C. H. Thorne, Abraham Turett, C. C. Sullivan, Chas. Manning, H. W. Hanlon, John Wood, alias Delaney, and George Ross, that the action of the Warden in placing the said convicts in solitary confinement is hereby approved, and that he is further directed to inflict such additional punishment as may be permitted by the rules and regulations of the Prison if, in his discretion, the same may be deemed necessary and expedient.

Rev. Nightingale Appropriates Church Property to His Own Use.

MEMPHIS, September 12.—A bill was filed in the Chancery Court this morning asking a decree declaring Rev. Taylor Nightingale, pastor of the Beal Street Baptist Church, as wrongfully usurping its pulpit and holding possession of the church property. The bill charges that defendant Nightingale, not having the fear of God before his eyes, and being moved and incited by instigation of the Devil, schemed and intrigued to subvert the use of the church property to satisfy his personal and political ambition by conspiring to take charge of said property, the archives, keys, records and personage, and now holds them by violence.

Accident at the Sacramento Fair.

SACRAMENTO, September 12.—The old stand at the north end of the grand stand fell this afternoon during the races, and a great many persons were cut and bruised. E. W. Melvin, who keeps an installment store, was badly hurt in his back. It may be broken.

Tully Delany of this city had his right leg broken.

John Kenny got a sprained leg.

J. K. VanZandt of Red Bluff was bruised and cut.

Harry Johnson was hurt about the chest.

Thomas Mace of San Francisco badly bruised across the small of his back, and it is feared his internal injuries are serious.

Tully DeLong had a leg broken in two places.

Miss Ava.

Special to the Journal.

St. Louis, September 12.—A clew to the identity of Miss Ava, who mysteriously disappeared from Chicago three days ago, has been unearthed here. In a scrap book in possession of the alleged Ava, now at Cincinnati, is inscribed the name of Dr. Rumford, No. 1528, Chestnut street, St. Louis. A reporter called at the number given, but it was discovered that the doctor had left the city three months ago and is now in Los Gatos, California.

The doctor believed in spiritualism and all other isms of the same kind, as well as being a follower of Madame Blavatsky.

Workmen Injured.

SALTUNG, Pa., September 12.—A terrible accident occurred last night at the railroad bridge. A swinging scaffold under the bridge was crowded with nine workmen who were about quitting when the rope broke, precipitating the entire party into the river bed, fifty feet below. The river was very low and the nine men fell on a confused mass of sharp stones, four of them being fatally injured, while the rest were more or less bruised. Those fatally injured were J. C. Repergle, S. W. Reed, W. D. Wilson and George Flemming. James Cunningham was badly injured but not fatally hurt.

Murder and Suicide.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, September 12.—This morning William Lampstomp, aged sixty years, attempted to murder his wife. He shot her, inflicting probably fatal injuries, and then suicided with the same weapon. Because of his abuse and failure to support her, his wife had determined to secure a divorce. The announcement of this was followed by the shooting. A few years ago Lampstomp shot and painfully wounded a former wife who had obtained a divorce from him.

A Valuable Horse Dies.

Special to the Journal.

CLEVELAND, September 12.—The Chestnut stallion Wyandott, owned by W. R. Esig, who was sent to his stable sick at the close of the 2:24 race yesterday, died to-day. The horse was valued at $10,000. He was by Ambassador, dam by Daniel Lambert. There is a strong suspicion that the horse was poisoned.

George Hammond of Middleburg, Vermont, owner of the mare Tempest, which was entered as a ringer in the 2:40 class, Tuesday, was to-day expelled from the National Trotting Association.

A Coal Oil Lamp Explodes—Veteran Masons.

Special to the Journal.

OREGON CITY, September 12.—Mrs. Thomas Brown and her adopted daughter Minnie were terribly burned to-day by an explosion of a coal oil lamp. Before assistance arrived Minnie was so badly burned that she will probably die. Mrs. Brown may recover.

The Veteran Masonic Association of the Pacific Coast met in this city last night to celebrate the forty-third anniversary of the organization of Multnomah Lodge, No. 1. Appropriate exercises were held, concluding with a banquet.

Settlers Drowned.

Special to the Journal.

MINNEAPOLIS, September 12.—A Tribune special from Cloquet, Minn., says: "Meagre particulars have just been received of the drowning of five persons in St. Louis river. They are said to be settlers who were going on to a claim, and in crossing the river all were drowned. Two were brothers named Jackson and one was a twelve-year-old girl. The names of the others were not learned."

Diss Debar—Ava

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The Acting Superintendent of Police declines to discuss the stories from Chicago concerning the probable discovery of the famous spook priestess, Diss Debar, in the person of the so-called Vera Ava. Chief Byrne of the detective force does not think the Chicago or Cincinnati woman and Diss Debar are one and the same, if the description telegraphed is correct.

Two Men Drowned.

Special to the Journal.

PORT COSTA, September 12.—Manuel Vargas and four friends went to-day for a sail on Carqueez Straits and when opposite Dillon's Point the boat capsized. Vargas and Manuel Silva were drowned, the other men swam ashore. The bodies were not recovered.

Blake Released.

Special to the Journal.

SAN ANTONIO, Cal., September 12.—Supreme Judge Masten, acting magistrate in the case of Amos Blake for shooting J. A. Armstrong, released Blake, the evidence being insufficient to hold him.

Cholera Among the Sailors.

Special to the Journal.

BOMNAY, September 12.—Cholera, in a severe form, has broken out on board H. M. S. Blanche and H. M. S. Marathon at this point. There have been twenty-eight cases on board the two ships within twenty-four hours and six deaths.

It is stated that Mrs. Hopkins-Searls made a will in favor of several of her near relatives whom she had befriended about the time she married Searls. This will, it is understood, specially described the relative esteem Mrs. Hopkins had for certain persons, prominent among whom were her adopted son, Timothy Hopkins, and his wife to whom she left half her estate. This will is missing and it is said to be the fundamental basis of the claims now being made upon the estate by Hopkins and his wife.

THE SMALLEST WOMAN.

Her Age is Thirty Years and Height Twenty-Eight Inches.

A Springfield, Ohio, dispatch says: Brouse Run, three miles northwest of Middleton, south of here, boasts of being possessed of the smallest living woman, Ella Tinkel, daughter of William Tinkel, a well-to-do farmer. Miss Ella is now thirty years of age, having been born in 1861 at Miamisburg. When born she was of natural size and continued to grow and develop until three years of age.

She is but twenty-eight inches tall at the present time, and weighs but thirty-six pounds. She has always enjoyed the best of health, and assists in the domestic duties of the family. Although being so near, she never visited Middletown until yesterday. Her parents are of the usual size, and her five brothers and five sisters, some of them grown to manhood and womanhood, are endowed with all the gifts of nature. Miss Tinkel has never been publicly exhibited, although often solicited to accept the offers of museum managers.

District Court Proceedings.

In the case of Edith M. Barner vs. John W. Barner on trial in the District Court yesterday, the defendant was granted a divorce from the plaintiff.

In the case of John Bowman vs. the Golden Fleece Mining Company, the defendant's demurrer was sustained by the Court.

In the matter of the estate of James Bradley, deceased, the final settlement was set for September 15th.

S. Arnstein vs. E. Griswold, administrator of the estate of H. M. Geiger, deceased, was continued until further order of the Court.

In the matter of the estate of J. H. Snodgrass, deceased, W. C. Snodgrass was appointed administrator, upon filing bonds in the sum of $1,000, and D. W. O'Connor, John Bowman and Reuben Hoag were appointed appraisers of the estate.

MARRIED.

HATCH—COOKE.—In Virginia City, September 12, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. J. W. Hyslop, George Hatch and Miss Lucy Cooke.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELLA A. COFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

Artificial frost prevention is now suggested as an outgrowth of Senator Farwell's scheme for artificial rain production. L. G. Kniffen, of Chicago, has written a letter to Secretary Rusk on the subject. His theory is that clouds or artificial mist prevent the radiation of the heat from the earth. He suggests that the machinery and materials used by Colonel Dreyforth in causing rain be tested as a means of bringing the clouds closer to the earth and of creating a sort of fog, which will be a preventive against the ravages of frost.

PITTSBURG PHIL.

The Remarkable Career of a Young Pittsburgh Plunger.

Mr. George E. Smith, a young man who resides at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, has developed into perhaps the most remarkable plunger on the American turf. On September 3d he won $100,000 in the Sapphire Stakes at Sheephead bay. The winnings of the various turf plungers have been greatly exaggerated; but it has been definitely ascertained that Pittsburgh Phil really won not less than the sum named.

This young Pennsylvanian, who is 30 years of age, abandoned a salary of $10 per week in the City of Pittsburgh to patronize the turf. He is one of the coolest plungers that has ever followed the race tracks. He has suffered the reverses of fortune with which all gamblers are familiar, and it is said that his recent winnings at Sheephead Bay will not much more than make good his losses on other occasions.

A Burglar's Outfit.

It is said that a thorough outfit for a burglar's outfit embraces over 100 tools and processes, the most of which are marvels of ingenuity and scientific knowledge. The police of New York recently captured an outfit which consisted of a little giant knob-breaker, a diamond drill and a high explosive of the nature of dynamite, but put up in the form of a powder. It would open the strongest safe in a half hour, and without noise enough to disturb the people in the next house, while the entire outfit could be carried in the pocket of an ordinary coat.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE PLOWMAN

When the tired plowman his plowshare leaves
In the glowing dawn, as the sun goes down,
And the sky is as rich as a gleam of sheaves
In flowers of crimson and purple and brown.
I will wait in the rare and wondrous caves
And watch, as the loom of the sunset weaves
Its fabric of gold over country and town.

And I think of the springs that have come and gone
Since we saw the shuttle across the blue
That wrought in colors of dusk and dawn,
When the muck of the sleeping roses flew
On the breath of the south wind over the lawn,
And the evening shadows were longer drawn,
And the sun was low, and the stars were few.

And youth was fair in the lives we led,
His memories linger in this latter Spring,
And live in the flowers, the books we read,
The kiss she gave me in the grapevine swing,
In words and works, to be filled and fed
On the wasted honey and wasted bread,
And sang in the songs she used to sing.

Though the lily and rose have lost their leaves
In the ashes of Summers of long ago,
They come, through the rare and wondrous
eyes,
In the crop of love we used to sow,
As rich as the garlands the sunset weaves
When the tired plowman his labor leaves
In the fragrant corn, and the sun is low.
—Mark A. Candier in Atlanta Constitution.

Russomania in France.

The Russian rastaquoueres, pseudo-nobles, pseudo-diplomats, and officers open to suspicion meet with a childishly enthusiastic reception at the hands of Jacques Bonhomme, and find associates among many honest people, mingled with adventurers. Thus they succeeded in founding Franco-Russian theaters, Franco-Russian newspapers, all of them equivocal enterprises of which the simpletons become the inevitable victims. The public of republican Paris applauds pieces in honor of the Czar, manifest enthusiasm on behalf of Holy Russia, and gives way to a sort of pious unbelief as regards everything that is closely or remotely connected with the alliance.

Thus the French nation, in its own estimation the wittiest in the world, has condescended to delight in idiotic trades or babyish anecdotes like the following. During the exhibition of 1889, when it became almost impossible to get a cab, a gentleman stopped the john of one of these vehicles, saying:

"Coachman, will you drive me to the exhibition?"

"No; my horse is tired."

"Coachman, I will give you ten francs."

"No."

"Twenty francs."

"No."

"A hundred francs."

"No."

"Coachman, I am a Russian."

"Ah! in this case all right. Jump in, sir. Hue! Cocotte, et vive le czar!"—J. H. Rosny in Harper's.

Peculiar Chinese Varnish.

The British consul at Hankow, in his report, mentions that the varnish exported from that port is the gum of the rhus vernicifera. On this tree before daylight incisions are made; the gum that runs out is collected in the dark and strained through a cotton cloth bag, leaving behind a large amount of dirt and refuse.

This operation can only be performed in the dark, as light spoils the gum and causes it to cake, with all the dirt in it. It cannot be strained in wet weather, as moisture causes it to solidify. When the Chinese use the varnish they rub it on with a sort of mop made of soft waste silk. It should also be used in wet weather, as, if the atmosphere is dry when it is rubbed on it will always be sticky. As used by the Chinese it takes about a month to dry. During the time it is drying it is poisonous to the eyes.—London Times.

A Man Who Tried to Be a Giant.

John Laws Milton, an English writer and author, states that in his youthful days he wanted to be a giant, "and several times thought he had discovered an infallible method of attaining the object of his ambition, such as overfeeding, stretching by dint of violent jerks from beams, etc., to the great amazement of his relatives and friends." Mr. Milton may well congratulate himself that he did not succeed, as giants are seldom bright in intellect, rarely in good health and universally shortlived. Rapid decay seems to naturally follow rapid and excessive development.—New York Times.

The Talipot Palm of Ceylon.

The talipot palm of Ceylon has gigantic fanlike leaves, which when fully expanded form a nearly complete circle thirty feet in diameter. Large fans made of them are carried before people of rank among the Cinghaleses; they are also commonly used as umbrellas, and tents are made by neatly joining them together. They are used as a substitute for paper, being written upon with a stylus. Some of the sacred books of the Cinghaleses are composed of strips of them.—Washington Star.

Among the tribes of Asia, besides those used for food, one variety of mushroom is utilized in making snuff and another for producing intoxication, one mushroom making a man drunk for a whole day. The same specimen is also converted into a "fly killer" for European use.
